PANTIJAR SCIENCE STUDIES. By RICHARD A. PROCTOR. 12mo. pp. 422. New-York: R. Worthing-ton. 1882. These studies are more familiar than they are cientific. There can be no question about the easy, unconstrained way in which Mr. Proctor diffuses seience, but it happens too often that the science which be has to impart is of a doubtful quality. This is a serious matter, for it impairs the usefulness of a man who is admirably fitted in several ways for the work of popularizing science. Such stakes bring what is known as popular science into contempt by giving the impression that science made popular means superficial science or no science at all. Now it is not reasonable to expect that the great mass of intelligent people will ever be careful investigators or close thinkers, or even that they will be able to follow hard after the foremost explorers in their search for nature's secrets, or comprehend clearly the deductions and generalizations of the greatest philosophers. But there are applications of the first truths of physical science to cual cases which can be understood, and must be understood if human life is to be ordered to the best advantage. And just here is the field for popular science. There must be men who know, and who can explain, develop and apply what they know Mr. Proctor is a man of recognized, if not of the highest, scientific attainments, and he has a singularly happy faculty of expression. His style is a model of clearness and direct vigor, and it is admirably admirately attained by the control of the c ably adapted to the task of bringing abstruse facts and relations within the range of ordinary compre sion. If he would devote a larger percentage of his intellectual activity to severer study and restrain his facility for utterance he would serve his generation to better purpose. First of all, he should see to it that his mathematics, his astronomy, his chemistry are genuine science. He should be certain that he has taken from the mine the pure gold of scientific truth before he mints it into small stamps it and gives it popular currency. In the present volume a great variety of topic are discussed, from the mathematical certainties of the fifteen puzzle to the hypothetical horrors threatened by a cranky comet. Many of the studies" are trivial, and some of them are excursions into that misty borderland between ascer-tained truth and more or less plausible guessing. One of these is the paper entitled "A Menacing Comet," which has been widely discussed, and in which Mr. Proctor tells what disagreeable experiences might possibly be in store for the solar system if the comet which appeared in the southern heavens in 1880 was the comet which somebody guessed it was and moved in the orbit somebody else believed it did. The book contains no great amount of information which is of substantial value, and the pleasant pictorial way in which this little is given will deepen the regret of the reader that there is no more of it.

AMERICAN ETCHINGS. Edited by Ennest Knaufft.
Published by the Art-Interchange Publishing Co.
Parts II. V.

Since the regretted decease of The American Art Beriew. there has been no means by which American etchers can get their work before the general public, except by the ordinary channels of trade. Mr. S. R. Koehler, the Editor of the Review, was enthuthiastically interested in the art of etching, and did all that lay in his power to develop it and aid its growth in this country by giving commissions to artists to make etchings for his Review, and by bringing his own very thorough knowledge of the matter to bear in setting them before the public with every advantage of paper, ink, and careful printing. In the two years of the existence of the Review, if Mr. Koehler cannot be said literally to have created a school of etchers on this side the water, he certainly did more than any other man has done to encourage and build up such a school. The present venture of the Art-Interchange Publishing Company aims to continue this good work, and we heartily wish our contemporary success in its undertaking. Each number contains a single etching, and a brief biographical sketch of the artist who made it. No. 1 contained, "The House on the Hill-top" by Kruseman Van Elten; No. 2. "A Poor Relation" by J. A. Mitchell; No. 3, Sunset, Maine Coast" by H. Farrer; No. 4, Burnt Pines" by J. C. Nicoll; and No 5, "Shanties on the Harlem " by C. A. Platt. None of these etchings are of great value as compared with the works which have given their authors reputation in artistic circles, and, in some cases, with the general public; we think, too, the price is high, and that a wider public could be reached, and the publication of better work made possible, by a ower charge for the separate numbers. Mr. F. A. Mitchell's "A Poor Relation" is not remarkable as an etching, but as an anecdote it is certainly very

THURSDAY, April 13-r. M.
To-day's mining stock markets were void of any features that possess a general interest. Prices were irregular, and the dealings, except in a few stocks, were only to small amounts. State Line 2 and 3 was specially active and rose to 68@67 cents. Chrysolite was weaker, and sold down to 4.60, closing with a recovery to 4.75, and Amie with moderate transactions was steady at 35@36 cents. South Pacific fluctuated between 1.00 and 1.05.

South Pacific fluctuated between 1.00 and 1.05. The Comstocks were lower in response to yesterday's decline at San Francisco, but there was a good demand for the stocks at the reduced figures. The markets closed quiet and without feature.

The forty-fourth dividend of the Homestake Mining Company is announced as 40 cents per share for the month, instead of 30 cents, heretofore paid. Weils, Fargo & Co, will pay the dividend on April 25. Transfers close April 20.

BUTTE. Mon., April 13.—The Only Chance Company struck on the 8th inst., at a depth of 450 feet, a large body of high grade free gold ore. The mill will be started about the 1st of May.

The Alice and Moulton Companies are both running as usual and are shipping bullion regularly.

The Stevens mine, which has been worked on a large scale here for the past y car has closed down because of the deterioration of the ore, which will not now pay for working.

Bullion valued at $40,000 was received in this city yesterday from the mines. Robinson Consolidated manager telegraphed April 12: "Shipped yesterday 41 tons; assay 62 ounces. Will start 1.100 foot level Saturday or Sunday. Everything going all right."

Will start 1.100 foot level Saturday or Sunday. Everything going all right."

Old Dominion Copper superintendent reports, April 3: "Have sunk New-York shaft 121 feet below second level. This week have extended south drift 11 feet and north drift 8 feet, and have advanced lower drift in Old Dominion 10½ feet. Have large force hauling ore to the farnaces."

State Line manager reports, April 4: "Since my last letter the 267-foot cross-cut has been advanced 16 feet—total, 136½ feet—through extremely hard ground. At 133 feet we cut through a 5-inch seam of quartz mingled with spar, dipping at about the same angle as the vein on the 100-foot level. The ground, since cutting this seam, has grown softer, and we will be able to make better headway hereafter with the cross-cut. In opening up the stopes for ore on the first level, it has been necessary to cut through a great deal of very low grade quartz, which has to a certain extent become mingled with the better class of rock sent into the mill, but we have now so opened up the pay vein that in future the mill will be run on rock which promises better returns. Owing to the lack of water at times, and to the breaking of bossheads, dies, screens and other little pieces of machinery incidental to the starting of a new mill, I have been scarcely able to keep twenty-live stamps at work steadily. The rock being so hard and the gold so fine, as io make necessary very fine screens, it is possible to crash little over one ton per stamp per day. On the 1st inst I made a clean-up of last month's run, and the result shows that the average of all the ores crushed is between $11 and $12 per ton. Everything is working smoothly."

The mill of the Stormont Company started up on March 31, and is running at its full capacity. It is reported that there are about 1,200 level, is in 760 fort. The total laugth of the storthy drift from the work at the mine.

Standard Consolidated official report, April 2, shows that the east cross-cut, 1,000 level, is in 760 feet. The total length of the south drift from this cross-cut is 79 feet. The east cross-cut, 700 level, is in 833 feet. The total length of west cross-cut, No. 1, 500 level, is 388 feet; the face is in very hard blasting rock. The south drift from west cross-cut, No. 1 is m 85 feet, the ledge in the face of this drift is 4 feet wide and looks well. The total length of the south crift from the top of upraise No. 1 is 84 feet, the vein showing a width of 5½ feet of very good ore. The north drift is in 75 feet; the vein at this point is 5 feet wide of very fine ore. On the 385 level the vein in the stopes shows a width of 15 to 30 feet of clear ore, and for the 550 level the vein is about 15 feet wide.

CLOSING PRICES OF BOSTON STOCKS.

Boston, Thursday, April 13, 1882.

CLOSING PRICES PHILADELPHIA STOCKS.

Like those of preceding days, to-day's stock market reflected a continuous liquidation, because of a loss of confidence on the part of speculative holders and a wearing away of margins by a continual shrinkage of values; and that despite the fact that the market to-day, as it has done on other days, opened with the prevailing opinions of a majority of the active traders in favor of s pronounced and important rally. A special feature to-day was the unusual amount of the transactions in such first-class stocks as Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Chicago and Rock Island at declining figures, while some stocks which are without the remotest prospect of dividends, like Canada Southern, declined less than the stocks first named. Michigan Central, however, broke away from its recent apparently safe anchorage as
